AGS 2016 State Spring Convention

Fourteen Alpha Gamma Sigma (AGS) Honor Society students attended the AGS State Spring Convention in San Jose, April 8 - 10. The theme of this year's convention was "Operation: Leadership." Students chose from a variety of workshops to attend with topics ranging from "Financial Aid Tips and Tricks" and "Successful Club Fundraisers" to "Civic Leadership" and "Honoring the Quality of Life through Service." The entire group of 500 AGS students and advisors in attendance enjoyed an inspirational message from Elissa Perry, a co-director of a non-profit Management Assistance Group.

Another highlight of this annual event is the awarding of over $40,000 in scholarship funds from the AGS Foundation. The students dress up for the award banquet and celebration that follows on Saturday night. This year Solano had three scholarship nominees and all three won awards! Kevin Butt, AGS president, earned his award for his service to AGS and the community. Israel Jurado and Elizabeth Pinto were granted scholarships for their academic achievement.

Don’t Let Bugs Bug you this Spring Semester

This is the season of daylight saving time, rain, sunshine, blooming flowers, and bugs! Mosquitoes are everywhere, and so are wasps, bees, and other stinging insects. You can protect yourself from complications from the bite or sting of these insects.

Mosquitoes carry the Zika virus, and a person can sexually transmit the virus to a partner. It is helpful for men and women of childbearing age to use protection such as condoms or abstinence for avoiding the Zika virus through sexual contact. Also, use insect repellent as directed, wear long sleeve clothing and shoes that cover your feet. Avoid being outside early in the morning or in the evening. You can find out more information about the Zika virus at www.cdc.gov/zika/prevention/index.html

Some people are allergic to stinging insects such as wasps or bees, and may have a life-threatening reaction. If you are allergic to any type of stinging insect, then it is important to inform the Student Health Center about it. It is also helpful to list an emergency contact person in your records, and carry some type of emergency medication or device such as an EpiPen available for your treatment. You can also avoid stinging insects by avoiding perfumes, fragrances and scented hair and body products. Avoid wearing sandals or flip-flops, avoid wearing bright and colorful clothing, and be careful when eating food around bees and other stinging insects. Avoid walking or playing in the grassy area since wasps are frequently hiding in the grassy areas around the campus. If you have any questions about this article or any other health information, please contact the Student Health Center at 707-864-7163.
