WORKSHOP DESCRIPTIONS

LR10 F2F Drop-in: Not loving online learning? Wanting to learn face-to-face (F2F)? Just want to speak PPTo a real person? Have some time to kill? Come by LR10 F2F Drop-in. It does not matter who your LR10 instructor is, a librarian will be available to help you with any part of LR10. If these hours do not work for you, NO PROBLEM. You can also visit an SCC Reference Librarian at the Fairfield, Vacaville, or Vallejo campuses during any open hours. Check the SCC Library website for Library hours www.solano.edu/library.

LR10 Orientation: In this workshop, we will go over why LR10 is a required part of English 001, how you take LR10, how to be successful in LR10, how to get help, etc.

LR10 The Annotated Bibliography: The Annotated Bibliography (AB) is the final project due in most LR10s. It is not as hard as it often seems. In this workshop, we will unpack the AB. We will talk about the purpose of an AB, formatting the AB, selecting sources, writing annotations, etc.

Database Searching: EbscoHost? ProQuest? OneSearch? Peer-Reviewed Journals? WTH? Learn the basics of library database searching and locating articles in this workshop.

Google Master Class: Google isn't just a search tool. Come to this workshop about what your SCC Google account has to offer.

MLA Citations: This workshop will introduce you to the Modern Language Association Style (MLA 8) for formatting research papers and citing sources.

APA Citations: This workshop will introduce you to the American Psychological Association Style (APA) for formatting research papers and citing sources.

Literature Databases: Literary Criticism! We touched on it in LR10, but there is more! This workshop is for anyone taking literature classes (English 002, etc.)

Psychology Databases: Peer-Reviewed Psychology Journals? We have them! Learn how to search PsychArticles, the database of articles in Psychology and Behavioral Sciences.

Using e-books: Did you know that the SCC Library has as many ebooks as it does print books? Learn all about our e-book collections!
