SCC Student Honored by Soroptimists

Congratulations to SCC student LeTrianna B. Starling who took top honors in the Live Your Dream category from the Soroptimists of Vacaville. Starling received $4,000 to help her complete her education.

Returning to college after an 11-year hiatus, she has been inspired to pursue a career in nursing, with a focus on mental health issues.

She said becoming a mother two years ago gave her the strength, confidence and determination to follow her dream.

SCC Students Attend March for Our Lives

Hundreds of thousands of students across America and in cities around the world came out to 'March For Our Lives,' calling for gun control and gun-free schools. The Bay Area was no exception. The largest rally was in San Francisco where thousands marched with a powerful message — end gun violence.

Pictured here are six of the eight members of SCC student government, including our Student Trustee and ASSC President who participated in the March for

Our Lives event in Vallejo. They were also joined by their Advisor and her daughter. This was the first time for them to be a part of an action of this type. It was a very empowering

Music Performs with Benicia Ballet

SCC's Music Department partnered with Benicia Ballet in the world premiere of Legacy ballet on Saturday, March 17.

The new work was inspired by the life story of a generous professor who battled with the complications of Parkinson's disease. Benicia Ballet supports SCC Music by sponsoring musicians for Symphony Orchestra of Northern California, a professional mentoring orchestra.

Several SCC music students performed side by side with the professional musicians in the orchestra, led by SCC professor Dr. Jonathan Knight.

Senate Holds Meeting at Auto Tech Facility

The Senate would like to thank faculty member Paul Hidy for the tour of the Auto Tech facility in Vallejo! It was clear that the students enjoy learning and working there, and the Senate enjoyed the insider's peek at the activities and learning spaces.

Solano Speech & Debate Team Hosts Local High Schools

On Saturday March 17, the Solano Speech and Debate Team hosted local high schools with a speech and debate workshop. Attendees from Rodriguez, Benicia, and Solano's Early College High School came to learn the basics of debate taught by students from Solano's team.

The workshop is an ongoing effort to support the high school speech and debate community in the region. The continued effort of this program not only prepares students with critical thinking and research skills necessary for success in college but also expands Solano's outreach into our local communities.

If you are interested in learning more about Solano's speech and debate team contact douglas.mungin@solano.edu or visit solanospeechanddebate.wordpress.com.

Baseball & Tennis Update

Solano baseball had two big BVC wins on the road vs Contra Costa 3-2 and 4 -1 respectively.

Solano men's tennis beat DVC in the first round of Big North play-offs as the women downed Santa Rosa.

Suisun Valley Review Submissions Due Soon

Solano Community College's long-running and award-winning Suisun Valley Review is now accepting submissions in original poetry, prose, short fiction and visual media for its Spring 2018 edition.

The deadline for submission is April 3.

Suisun Valley Review carefully considers all submissions received from first-time contributors and published authors alike.

Submissions need not be from SCC students to be considered.

All submissions should be accompanied by a cover letter including the contributor's name, address, phone number, email and two to three lines of biographical information.

Multiple submissions from the same author will be allowed. Due to space limitations, literary submissions must not exceed 3,000 words.

SVR also accepts submissions in photography, fine art and 3-D art. Images of visual submissions should be at 300 ppi with TIFF OR JPG extensions.

A maximum of five works per artist or photographer may be submitted.
SVR publishes in full color.

Electronic submissions and correspondence may be send in an email to suisunvalleyreview@gmail.com or submitted online at <https://suisunvalleyreview.submittable.com/submit>.
