

First Year Experience (FT3)

Melissa Reeve, FT3 Coordinator

In Coordination with the offices of Academic Support Services and Academic Affairs, we have made the difficult decision to cancel the Fall 2020 cohorts of FT3, and to place the program on indefinite hold until the District is in a better position to assess the availability of funding. Program Coordinator Melissa Reeve would like to express her gratitude to the many faculty who have participated in this program through its conception and pilot year, as well as those who were assigned to next Fall's cohorts, several of whom have reached out to express their eagerness to be included when the program comes back. We helped a lot of first-time college students this year, and we also learned a lot about their needs. We remain hopeful that once things stabilize, we can put these lessons to work to build a larger and stronger program in support of student success.
