SCC Criminal Justice Major Teaching Kids Appreciation Through Community Organization

SCC student Ana Sanabria, a criminal justice major, and supervisor at the Acacia branch of the Vacaville Neighborhood Boys & Girls Club, is encouraging the young people at the Club to write "thank you" notes to Vacaville police officers.

She said the assignment was inspired by the Jan. 10 shooting of Davis police officer Natalie Corona.

"That really hit me," she recently told The Reporter newspaper. "Although we see police officers every day, we don't thank them enough. We never know when it's going to be their last time serving for the community."

Sanabria said being a criminal justice major at SCC has given her a greater appreciation for law enforcement.

"It opened up my eyes and my heart knowing that police officers go out and risk their lives for us," she said.

The kids, all between the ages of 6 and 12, spent last week designing cards to be delivered to the Vacaville Police Department. Some had drawings, others had just words, but they all had the same message for police officers: Thank you for protecting the community.

Sanabria said the cards were a small gesture to show police officers that the Boys & Girls Club thinks and cares about them.

"Although it may seem that we don't, we actually do and we talk about what's going on," she said. "We want them to know that we're actually acknowledging their work that they're doing for the community to keep us safe."

Athletics Update

Women's Basketball:

Solano women's basketball sophomore student-athlete Sierra Chapman has been named the Solano Athletics January Athlete of the Month, announced Friday.

Chapman is averaging over 15 points per game in the month of January along with nearly eight boards per game. She led the Falcons to eight-straight wins, including a big non-conference victory over Siskiyou on January 22, in which she had 14 points, six rebounds, and four steals. She started the month by scoring a career-high 28 points at Los Medanos on January 2.

She boasts a solid GPA, and she has participated in many community service events during her time with the Falcons.

The Solano women's basketball team was unable to overcome a second-quarter deficit as it dropped its first conference game of the year against Los Medanos, 71-65, on Friday evening.

Sophomore Sierra Chapman scored a team-high 16 points with sophomore Lexi Hines backing her up with 13. Hines added a team-high tying six rebounds, and sophomore Sunmi Da Silva tallied six assists.

The Falcons (15-8, 7-1) take a break from Bay Valley Conference play, heading to San Francisco next for a mid-week tilt on Wednesday, Feb. 6 at 5 p.m.

Baseball: Sophomore Bryce Prybylinski posted a multi-hit outing, but the Falcons fell to San Mateo, 8-1, in the second game of the series on Thursday afternoon.

Sophomore Cameron Michael recorded the team's only multi-base hit with a double, while also scoring the team's lone run.

On the bump, freshman Nick Roach was charged with the loss (0-1) after going four complete, giving up three runs on two hits, fanning four.
