Update on PG&E Power Shutdown

Last Monday, PG&E advised us to prepare for a power shutdown that could last up to three to five days and would affect all of our locations. As soon as we were advised of the likelihood of the shutdown, we began preparations. Throughout Tuesday, PG&E sent vague information about the impact of the shutdown and the duration. All we received was the likelihood that we would lose power at an unspecified time, probably before Wednesday classes. Because the shutdown was far reaching, we determined it would be best to announce on Tuesday that we would be closed Wednesday and ask faculty to plan alternate assignments for the rest of the week.

The PG&E shutdown was minimized through the efforts of our team allowing us to keep essential services like the data center running and getting timely messages to employees and students. We used this event to assess our ability to plan and respond quickly. Many thanks to Lucky Lofton and Jim Petromilli and their staff who prevented us from going down completely during the outage. Many IT, facilities and custodial staff, VPs Rob Diamond and David Williams, Lt. Brian Travis and campus police remained on site during the shutdown. Victoria Lamica came in Thursday to mail vendor payments and to distribute paychecks for those who get paid on the 10th of the month. Also, Maire

Morinec who covered the Vacaville Center. This collective effort allowed us to answer calls from students and community members during the outage, restore systems on Thursday, and get back to business by Friday. This week we will document our process and evaluate the outcomes as we suspect power shutdowns in October may become an annual event. Thanks to everyone for your patience last week.

Roadtrip Nation & the Green RV

Roadtrip Nation's "Roadmap to Careers Tour" is coming to SCC to help students take the next step in finding their dream job.

Co-founders Mike Marriner, Nathan Gebhard, and Brian McAllister, didn't know what they wanted to do with their life, so after college, they bought a mechanically questionable RV, painted it green, and decided to travel the country asking people who do what they love how they figured it out.

15 years later, that road trip has become an organization dedicated to helping people find career and life fulfillment by using tools to create a diverse and relevant collection of resources showing young people the vast scope of careers and possibilities.

Swing by the Green RV:

When: Tues. Oct. 22

Time: 10am – 2pm

Place: Main Campus, Bldg. 1400 (outside of the cafeteria)

Vacaville Center Hosts Math Steeplechase

For the third year, the Vacaville Center was the proud location of the Solano County Math Steeplechase on Tuesday, October 8. The purpose of this high school outreach event is to promote problem solving and an enjoyment of math, while providing the students with an opportunity to experience the Vacaville Center campus.

Teams of high school students from Vacaville, Will C. Wood, Buckingham, Winters, Dixon, and Benicia High Schools competed in a problem solving course consisting of ten stations. At each station, students were presented with a challenging and fun problem for which they had fifteen minutes to solve with a collaborative effort. Some of the Standards that students had to apply in order to solve the problems were from algebra, geometry, and statistics, while other challenges required creativity in engineering design or logic.

After the math competition, students enjoyed pizza and received a presentation from our Outreach Coordinator, Alexandria Castaneda, who informed the group about our many programs and promises available at Solano Community College.

Updates from the NorthBay Tennis Championship

Australian Christopher O'Connell was the single's winner against top-seeded American Stevie Johnson in the NorthBay Tennis Championship. The 29-year-old Sydney native needed just one hour, 10 minutes to beat seasoned 29-year-old veteran Steve Johnson of Redondo Beach 6-4, 6-4. O'Connell blitzed through the field all week by winning every ATP Challenger match in straight sets on the tennis courts at SCC.

Johnson came in ranked 99th in the world, owner of four ATP titles and five Challenger crowns. He had a phenomenal collegiate career at USC, won an Olympic bronze medal in 2016 with Jack Sock, and played many times in all four majors. The Californian was 21st in the world and the highest ranked American in 2016.

In doubles, Darian King of Barbados and Peter Polansky of Canada defeated Andre Goransson of Sweden and Sem Verbeek of the Netherlands 6-4, 3-6, 12-10.

The championship games were televised live around the world on the Tennis Channel.

The NorthBay Healthcare Men's Pro Championship benefits the Dr. Chris Cammisa Tennis and Education Foundation. The nonprofit helped found the men's and women's tennis programs at Solano College, while also bring the sport and an education program to underserved youth in Solano County.

Solano's Superintendent-President Celia Esposito-Noy was interviewed on the Tennis Channel during Saturday's match.
